Some Research Tips to Consider:

Do not hesitate to use other non-assigned sources in researching your homework assignments. An on-line course such as this one affords the student the opportunity of doing a great deal of additional in-depth research free of the constraints of standard lecture-based courses. Don’t forget to cite all additional sources used.

Please remember, the more thorough the answers to the homework assignment, the better the potential for a higher grade. General answers with no substantial analysis will receive minimum credit.

The six homework assignments take the place of traditional in-class exams. This means there are no exams or required class sessions in this course. The student’s final grade will be determined by the total points accrued for the six assignments.

Each question in an assignment contains a series of follow-up questions. These additional questions are intended to keep the student focused. They are not to be answered individually but rather included as part of the overall answer.

These homework assignments also provide a way for the instructor to see how the student is doing regularly and to make recommendations for improvement when appropriate.

This evaluation process is done in place of classroom interaction.

Writing Requirements: This is a Writing Across the Curriculum (WAC) Course

- Students are expected to complete all homework assignments on the assigned dates.

- Each assignment must be at least 2 ½ pages in length totaling (5,000 words).

- Grades based on content, analysis and insight, detail, grammar, and punctuation.

- Students will receive feedback (grades, comments, and suggestions for improvement) via the course management system email function).

- Students also are expected to complete a 4,000 word (15 pages, double-spaced, 12-point font, with 1” margins) paper on an issue related to race or racial discrimination in Cleveland’s African American community.

- The first draft of the paper, due the 10th week, will be returned on the 11th week with grammatical and punctuation corrections and other scholarly suggestions for improvement.

- The final draft of the paper, submitted on the 12th week, will be graded and returned on the 14th week.

- To get a grade of C or better, a student must write at a satisfactory level (C or better).

- Failure to do so means a grade below C and no WAC Credit.

Critical Thinking:
• Homework assignments consist of analytical questions related to specific subjects.
• Students will then analyze information collected and determine question answers.
• Students are expected to research homework questions and find pertinent information.
• Term papers focus on issues related to race or racial discrimination in Cleveland.
• Students are expected to examine current and past trends in their term papers.
• Students are expected to attain higher-order thinking-skills-analysis, synthesis and evaluation abilities.

Class Schedule:
• This is a BlackBoard. Course.
• For information on creating a BlackBoard account, see instructions at end of this syllabus.
• Students are expected to read the assignment materials on the assigned dates.
• Students are expected to submit their homework assignments on the assigned dates.

Grading Policy:

  Students are expected to submit their homework on the assigned dates. Failure to do so without an excused absence by the instructor means an automatic F grade. Those receiving an excused absence are expected to turn in their back assignments as soon as possible.

Homework Assignments:

  Students can earn up to 300 total points based on a possible 50 points per written assignment for 6-assignments. The criteria for grading the assignments are the following.

  Those students receiving 50-points not only present a wealth of relevant facts and information lending credence to the arguments they present in their answers; but also, demonstrate a keen insight into the importance of the subject matter and how it relates to Cleveland and the African American experience. Their papers also are very well written using correct grammar and punctuation throughout. The idea behind this assignment is to have the student present small, well crafted writing samples reflecting their interest and knowledge in the subject area.
Students receiving 40-points or more also display good knowledge and insight into the subject matter and also use correct grammar and punctuation throughout. However, unlike the 50-point essays, these papers do not contain as much detail. The analysis of material presented also may fall short of the reader’s expectation. This in turn may leave the instructor guessing regarding certain crucial points. This uncertainty does not occur with the best papers.

Those receiving 30-points or more illustrate some general knowledge and insight into the subject area and they may use some relevant facts to support their contentions. However, their work pales in comparison with the better students. Some may use proper grammar and correct punctuation throughout, often they do not. Although it may be an adequate presentation, it leaves the reader wanting to know more.

Students receiving less than 30-points miss the mark entirely. They are several reasons for their failure. First, they often write very short papers well under the 2 ½ pages required. Brevity may be alright in some instances, but not in this case. The instructor is expecting a detailed, thoughtful analysis of the subject matter in question. Nothing less will do. Second, the limited amount of information and analyses presented in this paper negates any and all arguments made by the student that he or she has fully the assignment requirements. They haven’t done it. It is that simple. Third, these papers often contain numerous grammatical errors and incorrect punctuation. This results in an incoherent writing. Difficult to read, difficult to understand, with minimum insight and insufficient facts, the student will receive a low grade.

Term Paper Assignment:

Regarding the term paper, the final grade will be based on content, style, and form. The criteria used for term paper grading is the same as the homework readings. Top papers will receive 41-points to 50-points, good papers 31-points to 40-points, average papers 21-points to 30-points, poor papers below 20-points.

Final grades for this course, determined by adding the scores of the six-papers together, will be based on the following guidelines:

- A = 329 to 350 points
- A- = 320 to 328 points
- B+ = 311 to 319 points
- B = 302 to 310 points
- B- = 290 to 301 points
- C+ = 281 to 289 points
- C = 272 to 280 points
- D = 230 to 271 points
- F = -0- to 229 points

Special Student Needs:
Students requiring special accommodations or needs must notify the instructor at the beginning of the semester so that appropriate arrangements can be made to assist them. This applies to those with physical or learning disabilities, or when English is a second language.

Getting Started with your BlackBoard Class

You are responsible for managing your technology for this class.

This course requires the use of BlackBoard, as well as MS Office or compatible software and Adobe Reader. It may also require the use of multimedia player such as QuickTime or Windows Media Player.

1. TECHNICAL REQUIREMENTS

Review “technical requirements” and “getting started with BlackBoard” from the Center for eLearning website. http://www.csuohio.edu/elearning/. In addition to the hardware, operating system, and internet requirements posted on that page, you will also be required to open various documents such as PDF files and Microsoft Office files including Word, Excel, and PowerPoint files.

- If you don’t have Adobe Reader, download it for free from http://www.adobe.com/products/acrobat/readstep2.html.
- Obtain MS Office, specifically Word, Excel and PowerPoint to open files that will be posted on the BlackBoard site. In addition, assignments submitted as attachments should be in Word format. If you have other programs that will open these files, you may use those as long as you are able to work with them. If you are submitting assignments in something other than Word, save them as .txt files or MS Office compatible files. Do not send files saved as Microsoft Works files. You may use this program if you are able to “save as” .doc or .txt.

A few options exist if you don’t have the MS Office software:

- As a student, you can buy it at a reduced rate of $65 from the CSU bookstore – a bargain in terms of Microsoft stuff.
- Out of cash? Try downloading Open Office for free. This is an open-source office suite. It will open and read files from MS Office. You can also create files and save them in MS Office format. The interface is very similar to MS Office. http://www.openoffice.org/

2. COURSE ACCESS

Once you are registered for the course via CampusNet, the course will automatically be loaded into your BlackBoard account. Course content is typically made available to students one week prior to the beginning of the semester.

- To access BlackBoard, point your web browser to http://mycsu.csuohio.edu

  Choose “BlackBoard” from the directory to go to the login page.

  -OR-
Choose “Login to BlackBoard/CE6 from the right navigational bar.

- Login using your CSU ID and password.

3. BROWSER CHECK

Most difficulties encountered by students using BlackBoard relate to the internet browser (Mozilla Firefox, Internet Explorer, etc). To prevent this, be sure to check your browser using BlackBoard’s feature for this purpose. From the course homepage, choose the link at the top of the screen, “check browser”. This will step you through the process to ensure that your browser is compatible with BlackBoard. You may have to install some applications such as Java (free) if you don’t already have it. The browser check up also requires that you enable java, enable cookies, and disable pop-up blockers for BlackBoard sessions. Again, complete the browser check-up and you should be in business. It will save you a lot of grief down the road.

5. STUDENT TUTORIALS

If you are not familiar with using some of the features in BlackBoard, you can get tutorials from the Center for eLearning website located at http://www.csuohio.edu/elearning/blackboard/index.htm.

6. CREATING A PROFILE

Once logged into BlackBoard, click on “My Settings” from your “My BlackBoard” screen
On the next screen, you will see your profile. Choose “edit profile” to update the information in your profile. Your profile is for ALL your BlackBoard classes.
Edit the information in your profile, click “save” to save your profile. Add a photo if you wish.
7. NEED HELP?

There are several ways you can get help with technical issues for your eLearning course. Follow these easy steps whenever you have a technical problem or question.

Note: If you have a question about assignments, course content, or other course activities, you should direct those questions to your instructor. This guide is intended to provide steps to take for seeking help with technical questions only.

1. Students who need technical assistance should first consult the Ask eLearning knowledge base (http://www.csuohio.edu/elearning). Students can search the knowledge base for relevant articles and submit general technical support questions. Questions submitted to the Ask eLearning knowledge base are answered daily during normal business hours. Students can generally expect a response in less than one business day. Questions can be submitted 24 hours a day for response during the next business day.

2. For more urgent or specific problems, students who need technical support can contact the Call Center via phone (216-687-5050), the web, or email call.center@csuohio.edu. For email submissions, please provide your CSU ID number for the fastest response. The Call Center will either resolve the problem or submit a help ticket to the Center for eLearning. eLearning students should receive a response to help tickets either next business day for items submitted after 3 pm or the same business day for items submitted before 3 pm.

Call Center hours vary during the academic year.
